WKND

MATT JUUL, NATIONAL FEATURES EDITOR

Boston has quickly become a foodie destination — and with good reason. The Hub is filled to the brim with amazing chefs and restaurants in each and every neighborhood around the city. However, it's no easy task for most people to try and taste every delicious dish offered across the Boston area. Thankfully, Dine Out Boston is back this weekend, which means foodies can grab a bite at some of the city's best restaurants without having to break the bank. Check out our guide to this year's "restaurant week" festivities.

WELCOME TO WKND

TWEETS

Gisele Bündchen
@giseleofficial

"I can't believe it's already been 10 years since we've chose to walk this life together... and what incredible 10 years we've had! There is nothing that I love more in this world than you and our family."

It's shaping up to be a wet weekend in the Northeast, which means it's the perfect time to cuddle up on the couch for a bit of chilling and television. Thankfully, there's plenty of programs worth tuning in to that are perfect for every kind of TV fan. From singing-competition series to thrilling new dramas, here are the best things to watch on TV this weekend. MATT JUUL

YOUR WEEKEND STARTS NOW

ARTS & CULTURE

"You Know You Want This: 'Cat Person' and Other Stories"

Harvard Book Store welcomes award-winning author Kristen Roupenian for a discussion of her debut collection, "You Know You Want This: 'Cat Person' and Other Stories." Her short story "Cat Person" was a viral hit in the New Yorker. Now she's back with a new collection of short stories that shock and delight. Her brutally honest depictions of gender, sex and power fascinates and repels but tells us, "You know you want this." Boston Globe "Love Letters" columnist Meredith Goldstein is moderating the discussion. Feb. 28, Harvard Book Store, 1256 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, harvard.com

"Endlings"

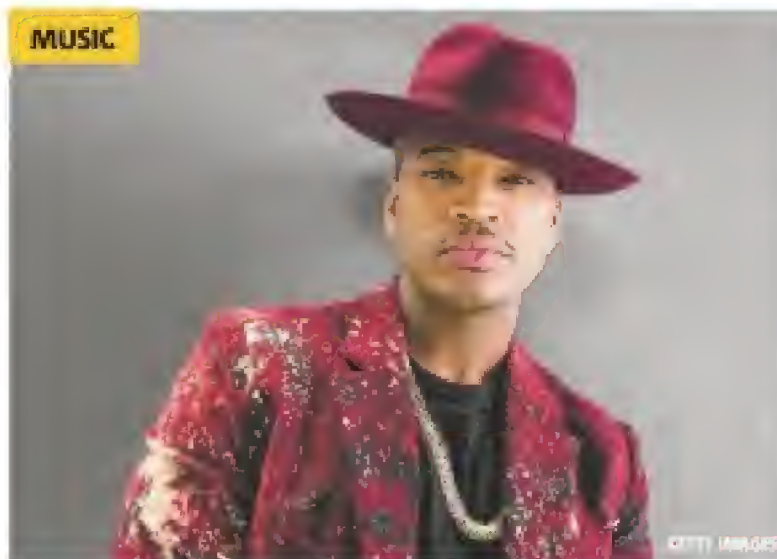

Director Sammi Cannold's newest playtakes the stage at the American Repertory Theater this weekend. The story takes place on the Korean island of Man-Jae, where three elderly haenyeos — sea women — spend their dying days harvesting seafood. Meanwhile, on the island of Manhattan, a Korean-Canadian playwright wrestles with her idea of identity. "Endlings" tackles the theme of Asian identity across generations, lives and the Pacific Ocean. The play features Wai Ching Ho (Madame Gao of "Daredevil"), Emily Kuroda ("Gilmore Girls"), Jiehae Park (author of "Peerless") and Jo Yang ("The Affair"). Through March 17, Loeb Drama Center, 64 Brattle St., Cambridge, $25+, americanrepertorytheater.org

COMEDY

Daniel Sloss

Stand-up comedian Daniel Sloss is coming to The Wilbur on Saturday.

MUSIC

Lenny Zakim Casino Night

The Lenny Zakim Fund Casino Night is back once again on Saturday. This fundraiser is one of the most recognized and established events in Boston. This year they celebrate a decade of giving back to social justice organizations in Massachusetts. The 10th annual Casino Night welcomes award-winning hip-hop and R&B artist Ne-Yo is performing a special concert. March 3, 8 p.m., Four Seasons Hotel, 200 Boylston St., $250, thelennyzakimfund.org

At 27, Sloss has an impressive résumé. He has made a record nine appearances on "Conan," two comedy specials on Netflix, and he is performing his newest comedy special, "X," at The Wilbur. March 2, 7 p.m., The Wilbur, 246 Tremont St., $37+, thewilbur.com

Irish Comedy Tour

The Irish Comedy Tour is bringing the party to City Winery. The lineup includes Detroit native Derek Richards, Boston-born Mike McCarthy, Nova Scotia's Damon Leibert and Dublin-born Derrick Keane. You don't want to miss these Irish-American comedians make fun of the land they know best. March 2, 8-9:30 p.m., City Winery Boston, 80 Beverly St., $25+, citywinery.com

FAMILY-FRIENDLY

Dr. Seuss Birthday Party

Theodor Seuss Geisel would have turned 115 years old this Saturday. To celebrate Dr. Seuss' birthday, Harvard Square is throwing the author a birthday party. There will be children's yoga, "Green Eggs and Ham" readings, giveaways and more kid-friendly activities! No registration is necessary for these free activities. March 2, 10:30 a.m.-2 p.m., Harvard Square Business Association, 18 Brattle St., Cambridge, harvardsquare.com

FOOD & DRINKS

Mass Ave. Mardi Gras

Get out those beads and masks and get ready to celebrate Mardi Gras a little early this year. Dorchester Brewing Co. is throwing a Mardi Gras party with classic food, a special beer release, music, costumes and more. Brewed just for Mardi Gras, the SuperKrewe is a traditional French farmhouse ale with a mild spiciness and subtle sweetness. You can expect to see the Revelry Boston Food Truck serving up New Orleans delicacies as well as pretzels from Fat Boyfriend. Later in the afternoon, DJ Parzki is serving dessert while live jazz music is being played by Sammy D and the Late Risers. March 2, 11:30 a.m.-11 p.m., Dorchester

Brewing Co., 1250 Massachusetts Ave., dorchesterbrewing.com
New England Food Show

The New England Food Show starts on Sunday, and is jam-packed with events for all you culinarily-inclined folks. The 2019 NEF Show includes special keynote speakers such as Aman Narang (president and co-founder of Toast), chef Anne Burrell (TV personality and author) and Jim Koch (founder of Samuel Adams). The show also welcomes the Women's Leadership Panel, a new session where Boston's leading women chefs and entrepreneurs talk about navigating the business. March 3-5, Boston Convention and Exhibition Center, 415 Summer St., $25+, nef.show.org

GOING OUT

MFA First Friday

The MFA is putting on its monthly First Friday at the end of the week. Join them for some fine art, music, cocktails and delicious beers on tap. We recommend advanced tickets as this event sells out fast! March 1, 6-9:30 p.m., Museum of Fine Arts, 465 Huntington Ave., $23, mfa.org

Chillin' on the D

The Lawn on D is throwing a special winter pop-up show, Chillin' on the D. This is the last weekend to attend the event that includes live ice carving demonstrations, an illuminated ice cornhole, as well as a giant inflatable snow globe and glowing ice tables. Guests can sip cocktails, beer and hot chocolate as well as other non-alcoholic beverages at one of our five ice bars, and nosh on eats from food trucks. The party kicks off around 7 p.m. with live music and DJs spinning dance and pop music. There's no cost to attend and all are welcome. Through March 3, 4-10 p.m., The Lawn on D, 420 D St., signatureboston.com

"THE WIDOW"

March 1 on Amazon Prime

Kate Beckinsale takes a crack at the small screen with the new series "The Widow," debuting Friday on Amazon Prime. The actress stars as Georgia Wells in the thriller, a British woman whose husband (Matthew Le Nevez) supposedly dies in a plane crash. However, three years later, Wells has reason to believe that her husband is still alive and decides to travel to the Democratic Republic of the Congo to find him.

"AMERICAN IDOL"

March 3 at 8 p.m. on ABC

They're back! The long-running singing-competition series returns for its second season on ABC this weekend. While Simon Cowell and the original judges are long gone, host Ryan Seacrest is still there, and there's no shortage of star power on the judges' panel thanks to Katy Perry, Lionel Richie and Luke Bryan. Season 17 of "American Idol" kicks off on Sunday night.

"GOOD GIRLS"

March 3 at 10 p.m. on NBC

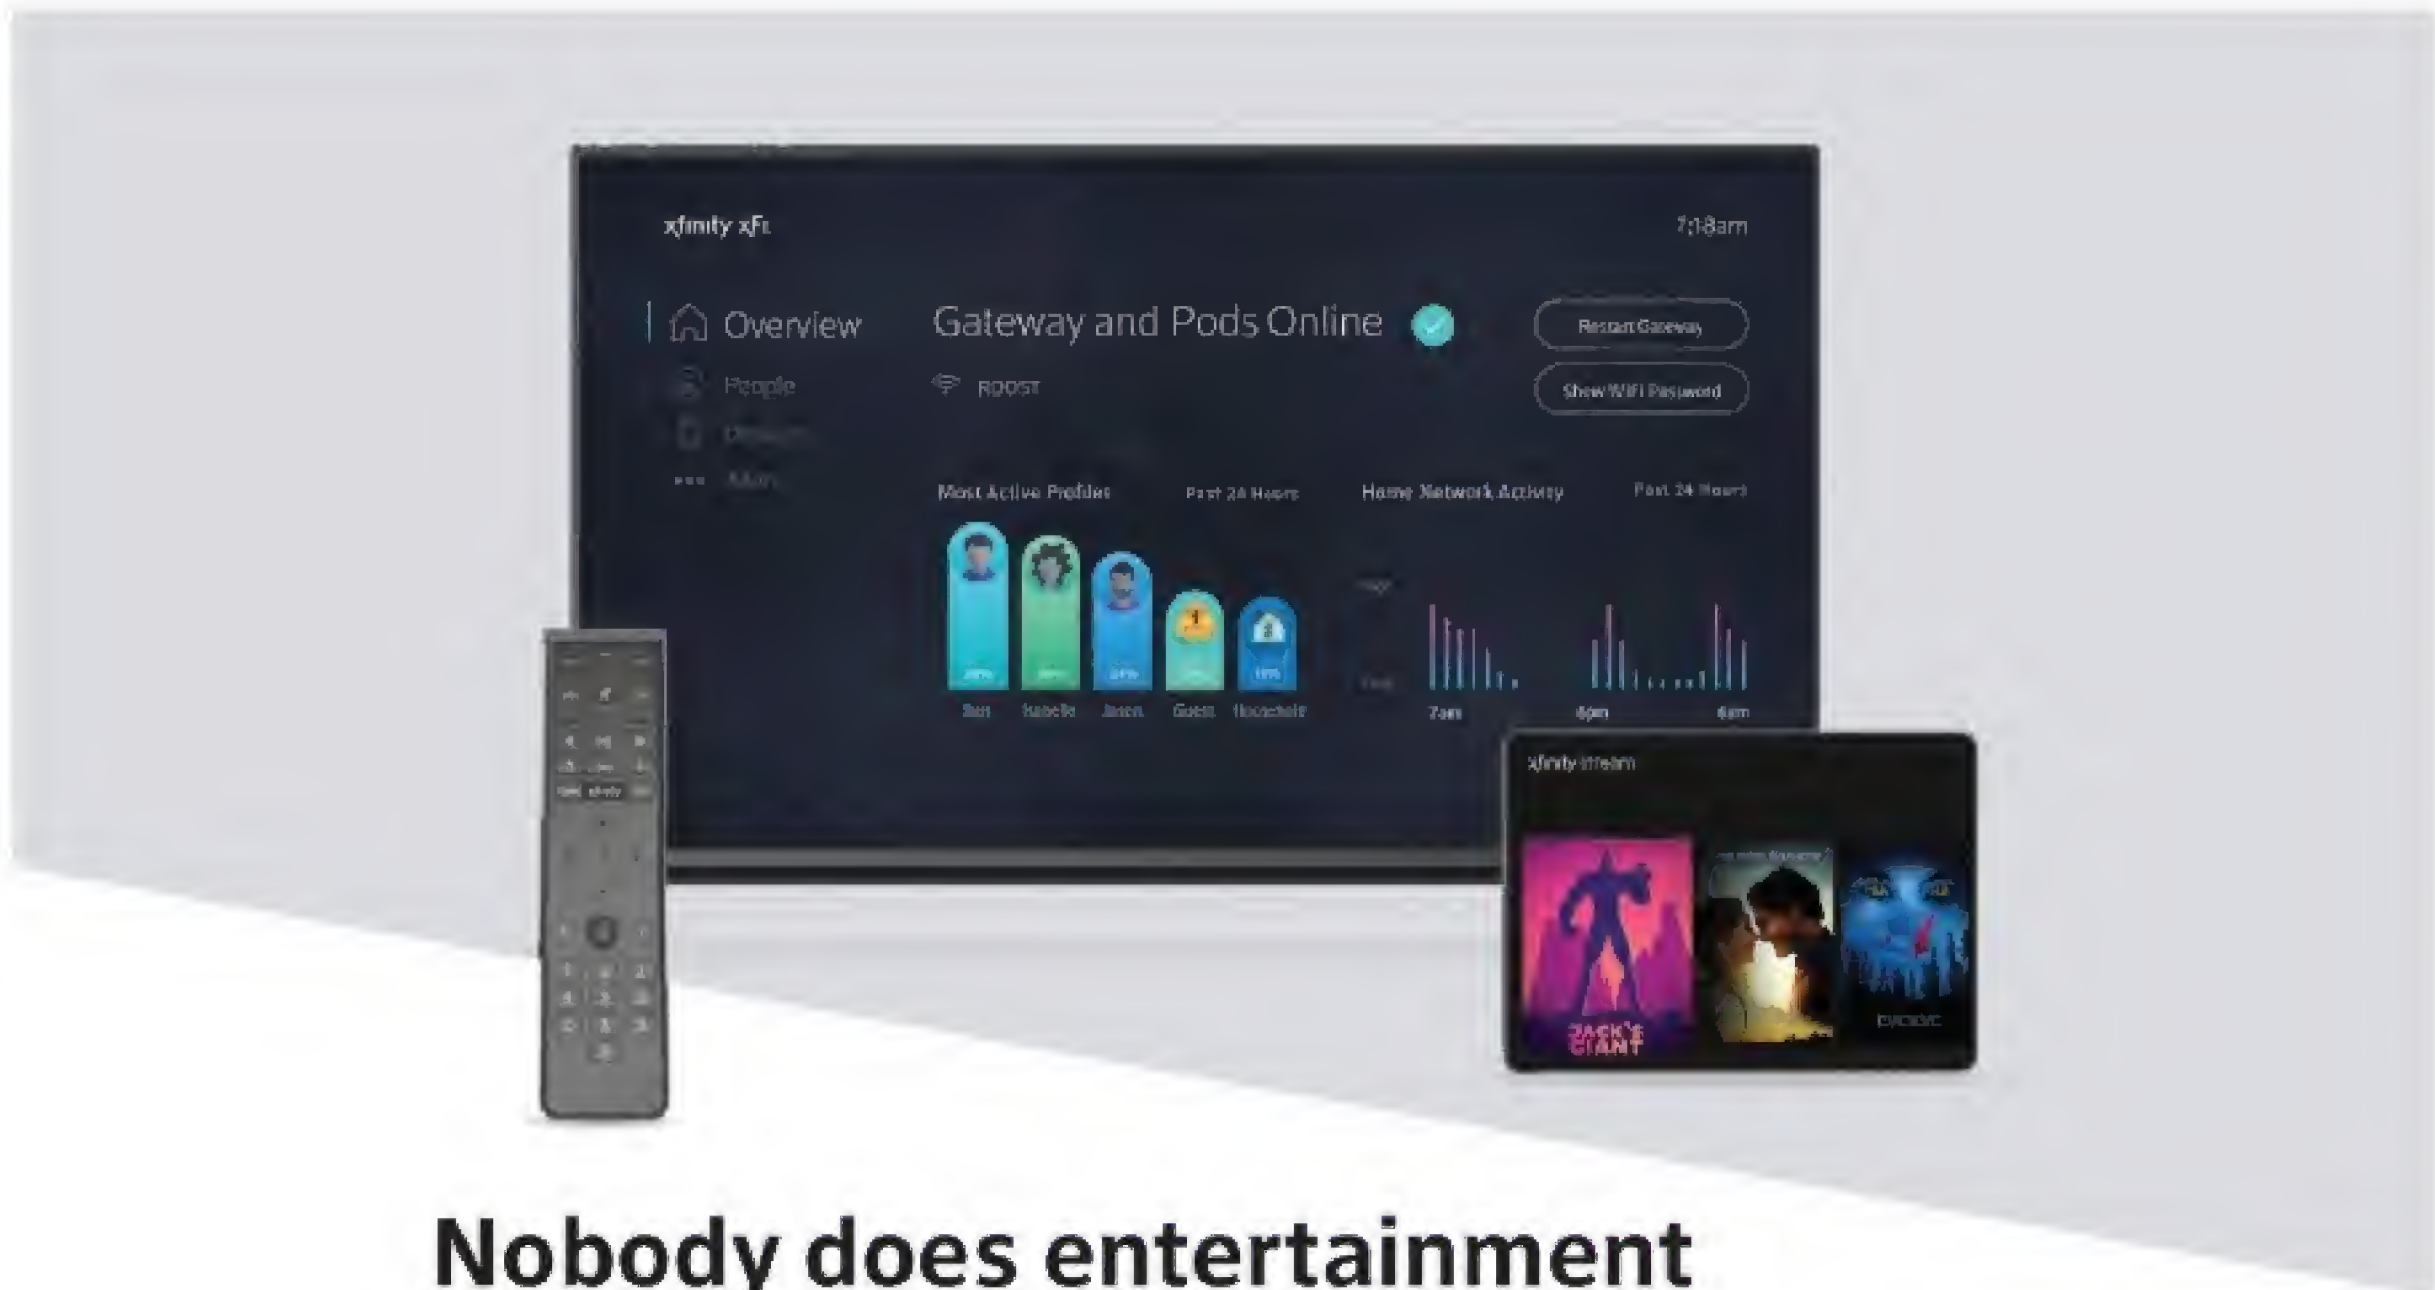

NBC's hit crime comedy-drama is back for another heist. If you haven't seen "Good Girls" yet, the series revolves around a trio of struggling mothers who decide to get theirs by robbing a supermarket, played by Christina Hendricks, Mae Whitman and Retta. Season 1 is on Netflix if you need to catch up, while season 2 of "Good Girls" is set to premiere on Sunday night.

Where to eat during Dine Out Boston 2019

Boston's "restaurant week" is back. MATT JULI

Get ready to feast, because Dine Out Boston is back this weekend. The city's restaurant week festivities kick off on Sunday with area hot spots offering special dinner and lunch menus at reduced prices. Since there are over 100 different restaurants taking part in the foodie fun, we've rounded up some of our favorite spots that you should check out during Dine Out Boston 2019.

ASIAN CUISINE

If you love Japanese food, there are a few options to try during Dine Out Boston. Downtown's PABU has a $38 per person dinner menu featuring Tokyo fried chicken, miso soup and pork tonkatsu donburi. Meanwhile, the Osaka Japanese Sushi & Steak House in Brookline has a $15 per person lunch menu and a $28 per person dinner menu, highlighted by steak, sushi and sashimi options.

Aside from Japanese fare, there's plenty of other Asian cuisine to try as well. The Downtown Asian fusion spot Q Restaurant has a $15 per person lunch menu and a $33 per person dinner menu, with items ranging from takoyaki and crab rangoon to poke bowls and surf and turf. Boston's only Hunanese restaurant, Sumiao Hunan Kitchen, is participating as well with a $28 per person dinner menu.

ITALIAN FAVORITES

There's no shortage of great Italian spots in the Hub and many are getting in on the Dine Out Boston festivities. South End's MIDA has a $33 per person dinner menu with tasty bites like crispy duck prosciutto toast, mushroom risotto and ricotta cheesecake. The North End's Tresca has a special dinner menu as well for $38 per person, featuring arancini, bolognese and tiramisu.

The famed Brookline hot spot La Morra has both a lunch and dinner menu available for $25 and $38 per person, respectively. Guests can feast on delicious offerings ranging from tuna crudo and ribollita to grilled bruschetta pizza and wood grilled swordfish.

SEAFOOD DELIGHTS

If you need to sate your seafood fix, Dine Out Boston has a number of great spots to choose from. Named one of the best restaurants in the city by Boston Magazine, the Back Bay's Mooncusser Fish House is offering a $38 per person dinner menu featuring celeriac and scallop soup, grilled salmon and pan-roasted hake. Acclaimed chef Barbara Lynch's B&G Oysters has a tasty lunch menu available for $25 per person, highlighted by New England clam chowder, cockle ceviche and a crab cake BLT. Guests can also purchase four chef's choice oysters for $9.

Longtime favorites are taking part in Dine Out Boston as well, including Legal Sea Foods locations in Charlestown, Chestnut Hill, Charles Square and Park Square. Chef Jasper White's Summer Shack locations in Back Bay and Cambridge have special lunch and dinner menus, too, for $25 and $33, respectively, featuring bites like lobster potstickers, fried calamari and more.

FOR THE STEAK LOVERS

Meat-eaters have plenty of options to choose from during Dine Out Boston. Both Boston Chops locations are offering a special three-course dinner menu for $38 per person, featuring bites like oxtail croquettes, an 8 oz. grilled prime skirt steak, plus an 8 oz. filet mignon available for an additional $19. The Downtown location is also offering a two-course lunch menu for $25.

Meanwhile, Atlantic Wharf's Smith & Wollensky has tasty lunch and dinner menus available for $25 and $38 per person, respectively, as well, featuring bites like tenderloin tips and boneless New York prime strips. The acclaimed STRIP by Strega in the Back Bay is getting in on the fun too, with a $38 per person dinner menu highlighted by 6 oz. tenderloins.

With the Viagra Patent About to Expire, a New Sex Pill Takes the Spotlight

A patented pill costing less than $1 a dose stands to help millions of men with failing sex lives; no prescription will be required

By Ray Wilson
Associated Health Press

AHP – A new sex pill is set to take the spotlight with the Viagra patent about to expire. But unlike the former, it won't require a prescription and is priced just under a $1 a dose.

The new pill called Vesele is part of a new class of performance enhancers for men, which work instantaneously on the body and mind triggering arousal and firmer, harder erections.

Formulated with a special compound known as an "accelerator", Vesele can transport its active ingredients faster and more efficiently into the blood stream, where it begins to work its magic.

The patented ingredient blend initiates a process known as vasodilation, which causes arteries and vessels throughout the body to expand. This allows blood to flow directly to penis and genitals, resulting in harder erections which last longer. Cialis and Viagra are based around a similar concept.

But what makes Vesele so remarkable, and what these other sex pills can't do, is that also directs a small portion of this blood flow to the brain, which creates feelings of intense arousal. In laymen's terms, users become incredibly excited and turned on.

This is why the makers of Vesele say their pill has worked so effectively in clinical trials. It stimulates the two most important organs for great sex, the penis and the brain.

The Brain Erection Connection

Until now, medical researchers did not fully understand the brain-erection connection. It has now been made clear with Vesele. When both are supplied with a constant blood flow, men are harder and firmer for longer...and have unbelievable sex drives.

"Most of the research and treatment methods for men's sexual failures have focused on physiological factors and have neglected the emotional ones. For the leading sex drugs to work, like Cialis and Viagra, you need visual stimulation" explains Dr. Henry Esber, the creator of Vesele.

"And although they work for some men, the majority experience absolutely no fulfillment during sex.

According to research published by the National Institute of Health, 50% of men taking these drugs stop responding or can't tolerate their side effects...and on top of that they spend $50 per pill and it doesn't even work half the time.

This is what makes Vesele so different and effective. It floods the blood stream with key ingredients which cause arteries all over the body to expand. The patented accelerator speeds up this process even more.

The result is a rush of blood flow to the penis and brain, helping to create an impressive erection and a surging desire for sex. Often, this is all men need to get going. And when taken regularly, many men say they are energized and aroused all day."

Great Sex At Any Age

With the conclusion of their latest human clinical use survey trial, Dr. Esber and his team are now offering Vesele in the US. And regardless of the market, its sales are exploding.

Men across the country are eager to get their hands on the new pill and according to the research, they should be.

In the trial above, as compared to baseline, men taking Vesele saw a staggering 85% improvement in erection hardness over a four-month period. Their erections also lasted twice as long.

These same men also experienced an astounding 82% increase in the desire for sex (libido/sex drive) and an even greater improvement in overall satisfaction and ability to satisfy their partners.

Many men taking Vesele described feeling horny and aroused through the day. The anticipation before sex was amazing. They were also easily turned on. Their moods were more upbeat and positive, too.

Faster Absorption into the Blood Stream

Vesele is made up of three specialized ingredients: two clinical strength vasodilators and a patented absorption enhancer often called an accelerator. According to an enormous amount of clinical data, each is very safe.

Research shows that with age, many men lose their desire and interest in sex. They also struggle to produce an erection firm enough for penetration.

And although there are many theories as to why this happens (including a loss in testosterone) one thing is certain, inadequate blood flow is virtually always to blame. That's why sex drug manufacturers focus on blood flow, it makes your erection hard.

But what's more surprising, and what these manufacturers have failed to consider, is that lack of blood flow can also kill your sex drive. That's because blood supplies energy for the brain. This energy is required for creating brainwaves that cause excitability and arousal.

Studies show the Vesele stimulates the entire cardiovascular system, including the arteries that lead to both the brain and penis. The extreme concentration of the ingredients combined with the accelerator ensures that this process starts quickly.

The sexual benefits of Vesele are also multiplied as its ingredients build up in the system over time.

Expiring Patent Opens the Door to a New Sex Pill: Vesele is a new pill that cost just $1 a dose does not require a prescription. It works on both body and mind to increase arousal and erection hardness.

This is why many men take it every single day.

Recent Studies Show Positive Effects on Women

In the same study referenced throughout, Vesele was also shown to have an amazing (and somewhat surprising) effect on women too. That's because the same arteries and vessels that carry blood and oxygen to the brain and genitals are the same in men and women.

"In our most recent study, women taking Vesele saw a stunning 52% improvement in arousal and sex drive. Perhaps more impressive, they also experienced a 57% improvement in lubrication.

You can imagine why some couples are taking Vesele together. Everything feels better. Everything works better. Everyone performs better. It's truly amazing."

A New Frontier of Non-Prescription Sex Pills

With daily use, Vesele is helping men (and women) restore failing sex lives and overcome sexual let's downs without side effect or expense.

Through a patented absorption enhancer, the Vesele formula hits the bloodstream quickly, resulting in phenomenal improvements in erection firmness and hardness. By boosting blood flow to the brain, users also experience sexual urges and arousal they often haven't felt in years.

Where to Find Vesele

This is the official release of Vesele in Massachusetts. As such, the company is offering a special discounted supply to anyone who calls within the next 48 hours.

A special hotline number and discounted pricing has been created for all Massachusetts residents. Discounts will be available starting today at 6:00AM and will automatically be applied to all callers.

Your Toll-Free Hotline number is 1-800-750-3554 and will only be open for the next 48 hours. Only a limited discounted supply of Vesele is currently available in your region.

THESE STATEMENTS HAVE NOT BEEN EVALUATED BY THE U.S. FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION. THIS PRODUCT IS NOT INTENDED TO DIAGNOSE, TREAT, CURE OR PREVENT ANY DISEASE. RESULTS NOT TYPICAL.

The film is based on the true story of William Kamkwamba.

Why Chiwetel Ejiofor was inspired to make his directorial debut

The actor talks directing "The Boy Who Harnessed The Wind" on Netflix.

GREGORY WAKEMAN
Gregory.Wakeman@metro.us

Chiwetel Ejiofor didn't harbor any serious ambition to write and direct before reading "The Boy Who Harnessed The Wind."

Sure, he'd overseen two short films, but he insists to Metro that these were just made "recreationally," as he wanted to "learn more about screenwriting and filmmaking."

But as the Oscar-nominated actor read William Kamkwamba's 2009 book detailing how he built a wind turbine from trees, bicycle parts and scrapyards materials to power electrical appliances in his family's home in Wimbe, Malawi, Ejiofor was "galvanized to pursue screenwriting and directing in a bigger way."

"I was just really inspired by it," recalls Ejiofor, whose parents hail from Nigeria. "It is so hopeful and optimistic. Especially since it is a story from a part of the world that there hasn't been much optimistic cinema about. I was really engaged with that. Because it felt like I was reading something that really related to me."

"Now, Malawi is very different to Nigeria in both the urban and the rural communities. There isn't a generic Africa. But there are similarities and I could definitely relate to how William spoke about that community. It reminded me of my treks back and forth to Nigeria. That sense of place, connectivity, tradition, culture, and familial dynamics that are really strong and authentic and deeply rooted."

Following the huge success of the likes of "Black Panther" and "Crazy Rich Asians," Ejiofor believes "The Boy Who Harnessed The Wind" is yet further proof of the power and appeal of diverse movies and stories from across the globe.

"It feels like there is an interest and an engagement with telling stories from different points of view. Because that enriches our overall artistic and culture landscape. That is the charge and challenge of having diversity in cinema, because it can get us into the points of view of different people in different spaces."

"That allows us to further understand all the nuances of the world around us and the people around us. All of that is being embraced and that is a wonderful and hugely positive move for everyone that loves movies and the arts."

Ejiofor not only shot "The Boy Who Harnessed The Wind" right in Kamkwamba's home town of Wimbe, but in the house next door to where the inventor was raised. In fact, the only reason they didn't shoot in Kamkwamba's actual house was because "he had done so much innovation to it over the years."

While this "pronounced the responsibility" of telling this incredible true story, Kamkwamba's exploits also allowed "The Boy Who Harnessed The Wind" to explore a myriad of different themes and subplots, each of which are bitingly timely.

"There are themes in the story about climate change, economics, that people really can relate to in a wider, political way" explains Ejiofor. "That includes conversations on democracy and individualism."

"There's a lot that people can invest in, beyond the film's immediate circumstances. All of which makes it feel really urgent and authentic. Both within the context of Malawi and 2001. And also in a much more larger way beyond that."

"The Boy Who Harnessed The Wind" debuts on Netflix March 1.

'Leaving Neverland' makes the case that Michael Jackson was a 'career pedophile'

Director Dan Reed talks us through the explosive HBO documentary.

GREGORY WAKEMAN
Gregory.Wakeman@metro.us

Michael Jackson was a "career pedophile" who used very deliberate, manipulative, deceitful and well-organized methods to ensnarl his victims, according to "Leaving Neverland" director Dan Reed.

Reed spent three years working on the explosive HBO documentary, interviewing two of Jackson's alleged victims, Wade Robson and James Safechuck, as well as several members of their families, before taking a deep dive into the investigations against the singer to corroborate their evidence.

"For mothers to come on camera and say in front of millions of people, 'I delivered my son into the clutches of a pedophile and he raped my child repeatedly under my nose.' I don't know any moms that would go on television to say that in order to get a quick buck from the Jackson estate," Reed tells Metro.

"Leaving Neverland" also explores how Jackson convinced the mothers to leave him in a bedroom alone with their children.

"There was a blinding effect of celebrity and all of the trappings," says Reed. "There also wasn't as much talk about pedophilia. It was a more naive time. We have grown a lot less trusting, probably quite rightly because people with power and authority can get away with this stuff. You can't adequately explain why Michael did the things that he did. It wasn't as though he was compelled by a force he couldn't control and then made one or two indiscretions. He was a career pedophile, I think.

"He abused Wade on and off for seven years, James pretty much for five. I believe he had a lot of other victims. He comes across as a very deliberate, manipulative, deceitful, well-organized pedophile who would... rehearse with Wade what he should say when the detective asked him about this, that and the other."

Reed is well aware of how unsettling and horrifying "Leaving Neverland" is to watch, as Robson and Safechuck go into explicit detail about the sexual activities that Jackson coerced and forced them into. But he also knew this approach was integral.

"We said to James and Wade at the start, 'We can't draw a veil over this. We have to confront the graphic nature and facts of what happened.' We had to establish it was actual sexual abuse and not just inappropriate touching. It wasn't innocent. It was the kind of sexual activity that grown-ups do. But it was being done to a child. And it happened again and again and again."

The Jackson family and estate have been quick to attack the nearly 4-hour-long documentary, insisting that Robson and Safechuck made the allegations for financial gain, while others have criticized the film for being too one-sided.

"I made sure that we included Jackson's denials and the assertions of his innocence. All of these child sexual allegations were categorically denied. When Wade came out in 2013 — we have all these statements from people debunking his comments and supposed awakenings. So it is just not true to say it is one-sided.

"We don't make any allegations against the Jackson family or estate. There is no need to put their rebuttals in the film. Plus, what is the other side to, 'He raped me!' Is it, 'He didn't rape me.' Or, 'It wasn't so bad.' We are ultimately talking about an act where there were only two witnesses. And one of those is dead. If this was a criminal case and we were in court, I think James and Wade and their families would make convincing witnesses."

"Leaving Neverland" airs Sunday, March 3, and Monday, March 4, on HBO.

Free things to do in Boston this month

Spring is coming, and it cannot get here fast enough. But before the April showers bring May flowers, the Hub is blooming with events. After all, we wouldn't want to leave you out in the cold. Did we mention they're all free? Here's our guide to the best free things to do in Boston this month.

ICA Free Thursday Nights

Every Thursday night in March is free at the Institute of Contemporary Art. This month, the ICA is featuring an exhibit called "Entangled in Every Day," which is coming to the museum on March 17. The exhibit features major works that showcase the artists' fascination with everyday objects. Every Thursday, 5-9 p.m., Institute of Contemporary Art, 25 Harbor Shore Dr., ica-boston.org

Mindfulness at Faneuil Hall

Resident street performer and CPCC certified coach Jason Gardner is bringing some meditation to Faneuil Hall. Every Monday, Gardner will discuss topics such as meditation, journaling, morning and evening routines, living with intention and how to manifest your deepest goals. You can find Gardner inside Quincy Market on the Upper Rotunda Mondays at 7:45 a.m. March 4, 7:45 a.m.-8:30 p.m., Faneuil Hall Marketplace, 4 S Market St., faneuil-hallmarketplace.com

Celebrity Author Series at The Concord Market

Concord Market's Inaugural Celebrity Author Series will feature a book signing by Erin Byers-Murray this month. She's a Nashville-based food writer, cookbook author and magazine editor. Her latest book, "Grits: A Cultural and Culinary Journey Through the South," explores a deep dive into Southern cuisine. The signing will include recipe samples from Murray's book, made by Concord Market Culinary director and chef Matt Molloy. NJ STANDING AT CONCERTS!

Why, at concerts, do people feel the need to stand (especially those in the front seats). Don't they have a good enough view? By standing, it causes a cascading effect, forcing EVERYONE to stand to see. It's frustrating to spend hundreds of dollars, only to have a great view of the posterior of the person in front of me.

Also, when a concert is by a singer, why is the music SO LOUD that it drowns out the singer. People don't pay to hear the musicians; they pay for the singer, so let the star be heard.

"I am ashamed because I know what Mr. Trump is. He is a racist, he is a con man and he is a cheat," Cohen said.

President Donald Trump's former personal lawyer Michael Cohen accused him of breaking the law while in office and said for the first time that Trump knew in advance about a WikiLeaks dump of stolen emails that hurt his 2016 election rival Hillary Clinton.

In a dramatic televised hearing in Congress on Wednesday, Cohen said Trump approved hush payments to cover up extramarital sexual relationships in violation of campaign finance laws, and signed a personal check for $35,000 in 2017 to reimburse Cohen for at least one of those payments.

Cohen assails Trump but gives no direct evidence of collusion

Cohen, 52, was a close aide of Trump for years and his testimony could increase the legal and political pressure on the Republican president, but he did not appear to reveal a "smoking gun" that would sink his former boss.

Cohen told a House of Representatives committee he had no direct evidence that Trump or his campaign colluded with Moscow during the election campaign.

Possible collusion is a key theme of Special Counsel Robert Mueller's Russia investigation, which has dogged the president during his two years in office. Trump has repeatedly denied the allegation as has the Kremlin.

Assailing the president as a "con man" and a "cheat," Cohen said Trump knew ahead of time about WikiLeaks' release of emails in 2016 that undermined Democrat Clinton's presidential bid.

He also said Trump directed negotiations for a real estate project in Moscow during the White House race even as he publicly said he had no business interests in Russia.

"I wouldn't use the word colluding," Cohen said of Trump's dealings with Russia, adding that there was "something odd" about the president's good relationship with Russian President Vladimir Putin.

The White House had no comment on Cohen's testimony but Trump earlier on Wednesday accused his former employee of lying.

"He did bad things unrelated to Trump. He is lying in order to reduce his prison time," Trump wrote on Twitter from Vietnam. REUTERS

Advocates demand external review of misconduct claims against Harvard prof

Students, alumni, advocates and survivors converged upon the gates of Harvard University, demanding the university address demands for an external investigation into decades' worth of sexual harassment claims made against government professor Jorge Dominguez.

The Chronicle of Higher Education has published a report detailing instances of sexual misconduct between Dominguez and more than 20 female students, faculty members and staff members dating as far back as 1983. Harvard's internal investigation found that he was responsible for "serious misconduct," but kept Dominguez on as a professor until February 2018.

In the article, former assistant professor Terry Karl describes several instances of inappropriate behavior, including a dinner where Dominguez introduced her to the former Venezuelan President Rafael Caldera as "my slave." The article goes on to detail a time when she called Dominguez out for that comment while driving him home from campus. According to Karl, Dominguez then "kissed her and slid his hand up her skirt, telling her he would be the next department chairman, decide her promotion, review her book."

Dominguez, who was placed on administrative leave, has denied all accusations of misconduct.

In March 2018, the Government Department formed the Committee on Climate Change, a 15-member group, and issued a memo proposing several steps to improve departmental response to harassment claims, including an external review conducted by an independent investigative firm of the reports made against Dominguez.

While committee members and administrators had "positive" communication, the administration ultimately shot down the idea of sponsoring "public steps" toward conducting an external investigation until the university had wrapped up its internal investigation, according to the Harvard Crimson.

"Harvard put hundreds of students at risk by allowing Jorge Dominguez to remain on the faculty for 40 years, and the university administration needs to take responsibility for that," government Ph.D. student Olivia Woldemikael said in a statement.

Things to do in Miami Beach

As soon as you cross the bridge to Miami Beach, you'll realize very quickly that there's a lot to see and do.

Fodor's Travel

In order to keep you from being overwhelmed and help you plan your trip, we've assembled a list of five of our favorite things to do in Miami Beach. Among them: well-known tourist hot spots and local hide-outs; nightlife that'll spike your adrenaline; museums and artwork that will astound and humble you, and of course plenty to eat (and drink) in between those activities.

Here are five great things to do in Miami Beach.

1. Groove out to some reggae at Purdy Lounge, a low-key dance club with some of Miami's best DJs spinning Caribbean music as well as old-school hip-hop. Or drop by for their well-known "Chocolate Sundays," which feature a blender of music genres, cheap drinks, and the weekly Drunken Spelling Bee.

2. Take a tour of the Historic Art Deco District by foot or bike and see more than 800 stunning architectural landmarks from the 1920s and beyond. You can walk yourself through the history or you can take a narrated tour and hear the interesting stories behind the first contemporary neighborhood to be recognized by the National Register of Historic Places.

3. Miami Seaquarium, just minutes from downtown Miami, is the place to see dolphins fly, fear-some moray eels lurk in coral reef caverns, and where shimmering schools of exotic fish dance through underwater seascapes. It's also the only place where you will see the graceful beauty of a Pacific white-sided dolphin and the incredible power of a three-ton killer whale.

4. Stay at Circa 39, located right in the center of Miami Beach, and just minutes away from a number of craft breweries, the trendy arts district, and numerous live music venues. Once you've ventured into the city, kick back and relax with a rum cocktail by the pool at Wunderbar and lounge in the highly instagrammable WunderGarden.

5. Order a croque monsieur and a salad with house speciality vinaigrette at La Sandwicherie, a small sandwich bar that packs a punch with its genuine-tasting French food and its fresh smoothies. Some regard this dive as the best sandwich shop in all of Florida. ROBERT COCANOUGHER

While you are watching 'Friends', your airline entertainment system is watching YOU

Is your airplane seat watching you?

Fodor's Travel

Earlier this week, a Twitter user pointed out a rather discrete camera on the seatback directly in front of her on a Singapore Airlines flight.

The tweet—which later went viral—from user “Vitaly Kamluk,” showed several images of the camera with the caption, “Just found this interesting sensor looking at me from the seat back on board of Singapore Airlines. Any expert opinion of whether this a camera? Perhaps @SingaporeAir could clarify how it is used?” As of Friday, the picture was liked over 750 times and has received more than 450 retweets.

It turns out, Singapore Airlines wasn't the only carrier with such a feature—American Airlines' premium economy seats have also been known to contain such a piece of technology.

Ross Feinstein, American Airlines spokesperson, told Buzzfeed that though the cameras are intended to be part of the in-flight entertainment systems, “they have never been activated, and American is not considering using them.” He clarified that, actually, multiple carriers feature the product, which can perhaps be utilized in the future for uses “such as hand gestures to control in-flight entertainment.”

In a response tweet, Singapore Airlines thanked Kamluk (who tagged them in the original tweet) in a two-part tweet, which concluded by saying, “These cameras have been disabled on our aircraft, and there are no plans to develop any features using the cameras. Thank you.”

While the airlines reiterated they do not plan on using the devices any time soon, a privacy risk has been noted—especially considering, according to The Verge, a camera connected to a device crophone to listen to surrounding audio and use its features from a remote location. A list from Tom's Guide, a digital publication focusing on technology, points out that numerous gadgets can be hacked, including, smart TVs, wi-fi-connected thermostats, and, if it has an electronic keypad, your front door.

How to protect yourself
Buzzfeed points out that airlines could make an effort to cover the camera. As that protocol has not been implemented yet, you may want to cover the device yourself, either with cloth or plastic. While we're not saying to stay paranoid, it certainly can help to stay aware when you find yourself in the presence of this and other comparable forms of technology. If you decide to purchase a product like the Amazon Echo, be sure to conduct research that might give you insight into any potential security threats it may present. Digitally protecting yourself on your travels is also very important, especially if personal data is linked to your mobile device. We recommend taking such precautions as installing an anti-theft app and using a password manager on your phone when traveling.

can potentially be hacked.

Other unsuspecting devices that can be hacked
It may not be as difficult as you'd think to hack an unsuspecting device like a camera. Just last year, online security experts found a family's Amazon Echo had been physically tampered with and hacked. The culprits opened the gadget and inserted a custom SD card that could allow them to use the device's mi-

SPORTS

Instead of going for Charlie Coyle or Marcus Johansson, the Bruins should have traded for Wayne Simmonds, writes Danny Picard. GETTY IMAGES

SIMMONDS WOULD HAVE BEEN BETTER FIT FOR BRUINS

PICARD
@DannyPicard

It's always a good thing to be active at the trade deadline, especially if you're in the buyer's market.

The Boston Bruins were just that, acquiring two offensive pieces prior to Monday's 3 p.m. deadline. The first trade was made last Wednesday, as the B's added 26-year-old forward Charlie Coyle from the Minnesota Wild in exchange for Ryan Donato and a 2019 conditional fifth-round draft pick. The second trade was made just before the deadline on Monday, as the Bruins acquired 28-year-old forward Marcus Johansson from the New Jersey Devils in exchange for a 2019 second-round pick and a 2020 fourth-rounder.

That's some good, experienced offensive depth — which was needed, especially while David Pastrnak continues to recover from thumb surgery.

But if you had told me earlier in the season that the Bruins would've traded Donato and three draft picks — which included a second-rounder — then I absolutely would've told you they'd receive something better than Coyle and Johansson.

I realize that sounds like a knock on Coyle and Johansson. But it's actually meant to praise Wayne Simmonds, who was traded from the Philadelphia Flyers to the Nashville Predators on Monday in exchange for 24-year old forward Ryan Hartman and a 2020 conditional fourth-round pick, which becomes a third-round pick if the Predators win a round in the playoffs this year.

Simmonds seems like the type of player you either love or hate, though the hockey fans who love him — like myself — can't understand how anyone could possibly not feel the same way.

Especially here in Boston this past Monday.

Simmonds is 30 years old. He'll be a free agent after this season. So, he might very well be just a rental for Nashville.

That shouldn't be an excuse for the Bruins. After all, Johansson is also a free agent this summer. And the B's gave up a better draft pick to get Johansson than what Nashville had to give up to get Simmonds.

Don't tell me a first-rounder wouldn't have landed Simmonds in Boston. Or how about if they had not traded Donato for Coyle? Donato and the 2019 second-rounder that went to New Jersey would've probably been enough to get Philadelphia to agree to trade Simmonds to the Bruins.

Don Sweeney obviously thought a combination of Coyle and Johansson would be better than just adding Simmonds. And even though the B's are off to a great post-trade-deadline start after beating the San Jose Sharks 4-1 on Tuesday night, I would've preferred Simmonds over Johansson and Coyle.

Simmonds' numbers are down this year, but his story, I believe, is the classic case of needing a change of scenery. He's spent the last seven-and-a-half years in Philadelphia. During that time with the Flyers, he never advanced to the Stanley Cup Playoffs two years in a row. And in his last three playoff appearances, the Flyers were bounced in the first round.

He only had fewer than 24 goals once while in Philly, but that was because of the lockout-shortened season in 2012-13, when he scored 15 goals in 45 games. In 62 games with the Flyers this season, Simmonds scored 16 goals. That's six more goals than Coyle and four more goals than Johansson.

For all the heat that former Bruins GM Peter Chiarelli takes around here, Sweeney's deadline moves this season seem eerily similar to Chiarelli's deadline acquisitions in 2011, when he traded for Chris Kelly and Rich Peverley. Kelly had 12 goals with Ottawa that season and Peverley had 14 goals with Atlanta, before being traded to Boston.

Sure, that ended up working out for the Bruins, who went on to win the Stanley Cup that season. It proved that offensive depth is, in fact, a very good thing to have. Still, I'll take the better player over two depth pieces any day of the week. And Simmonds is a better player than both Coyle and Johansson. I'm not even sure how that could be argued.

But the Bruins obviously weren't in love with Simmonds, for whatever reason. However, they might feel differently if he's hoisting the Stanley Cup in Nashville this summer.
